SCHOOL REPORT.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

DISTRICT NO. 1. SPECIAL.

The Board of Education in this District are pleased to report another very successful and profitable school year. While the High and Primary Departments have been especially fortunate in retaining the same teachers through several consecutive years, the Intermediate has been somewhat disturbed by a change no less than three times within little more than a year and a half on account of sickness. Near the close of the last fall term, Miss Merrill, who had so successfully managed this Department for nearly a year, was obliged to leave on account of a sudden and severe illness, and Miss Mabel P. Doten, a graduate of our High School in the class of 1886, was secured to fill her place. Without that experience which ultimately tends to make a successful teacher, she at once took hold of the work, applying those correct methods of instruction and government, which she had received as a scholar in our schools, and it is a source of gratification to your Board that their highest expectations have been realized. We bespeak for her a successful career as a teacher should she continue in the profession.

This District's portion of the school money was	$662 09
Additional raised by District for schooling, etc.	350 00

EVERETT B. HUSE.	} BOARD OF EDUCATION.
NATT S. WHEELER,
W. C. CLOUGH.

ENFIELD CENTRE.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL. One term of ten weeks taught by Minnie T. Clark. Our previous acquaintance with this school is not sufficient to enable us to judge of its advancement. Miss Clark's scholarship is evidently very good.

Two terms, each ten weeks, taught by Mary E. Currier. The progress made in the fall term was very marked, and we felt that the school was a grand success. The winter term, like so many schools, was badly broken up by la grippe, otherwise every appearance betokened success. Scholars, 23; 26; 34. Wages, $26; $28; $28.

PRIMARY. Two terms, each ten weeks, taught by May L. Morse. Miss Morse has quite a gift of imparting instruction, and labored faithfully, for the children did learn, and the fact is worthy of commendation, for we discovered at our first visit, which was late in the first term, that order was an unknown quantity to the pupils of this school, at least in and about the school room.

The second term began with better promise, but while the scholars did make good advancement in their books, long habits of disorder had become so deeply rooted that it became evident heroic remedies must be applied, and a winter term of ten weeks was taught by Lizzie T. Elliott, and all the evidence your board have, goes to show that the school was a success. I wish to caution parents to be careful of neutralizing the teacher's influence. It is a vital matter with your children, and these school days are to affect their whole lives for weal or woe.

Scholars, 32; 31; 22. Wages, $17; $17; 20.

POTATO HILL.

This school, at its commencement reminded your committee of that one anciently, "who had taken from him the little that he had." For some time there has been little or no school in this district, and the absence of instruction made its mark, and not to the credit of the town district. We have had here two terms, one of ten weeks, taught by Mary E. Trowe, and one of twelve weeks taught by Flora B. Penniman. The advancement made by the pupils is very gratifying. No of scholars, summer term, 7; fall term, 6. Wages, summer term, $14; fall term, $14.

WEST ENFIELD.

Two terms often weeks each taught by Clara M. Sargent. The progress made and interest manifested by the pupils in the studies pursued, demonstrates that teacher and scholars worked together in harmony, and evidences our previous belief in Miss Sargent's qualifications and ability as a teacher. Those her equal are very rare.

One term of eleven weeks, taught by Flora B. Penniman. School much broken by sickness. Miss Penniman is a very faithful teacher and labored unceasingly for the good of her school, and with very good success, considering the many absences.

No of scholars, summer term, 12; wages, $20. Fall term, 13 scholars; wages, $20. Winter term, 10 scholars. Wages, $20.

SHAKER SCHOOL.

Three terms, taught by Fannie C. Fallon. This is a model school. Good order, good discipline, thorough instruction, very near a perfect success. We earnestly wish that all our schools might copy this one.

Scholars 32, 16, 12. Wages, $20, $20, $20.

REMARKS.

We wish to congratulate the districts upon the gratifying results of the school year. General peace and harmony have prevailed among our schools, and good feeling been witnessed between teachers and pupils. We think a very good degree of advancement has been attained in all our schools. In our work for the district, we undoubtedly make mistakes, but we have endeavored to compass the greatest good to every scholar in the Town District. We bespeak the careful assistance and influence of all parents and guardians in maintaining the dignity and usefulness of our schools.

W. F. SMITH, Member Board of Education.

ENFIELD CENTRE.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL. Summer term taught by Minnie T. Clark, an able and efficient teacher. This was Miss Clark's fifth term in this school, and all that diligence, discipline and a good scholarship could do for a school was done for this one.

JAMES McELWAIN, Member Board of Education.

EAST HILL. No. 5.

First term, 10 weeks, taught by Carrie E. Morse.

Second term, 10 weeks, taught by Belle M. Dresser.

Third term, 11 weeks, taught by Susie M. Flanders.

This school register demonstrates that many parents do not realize how much the progress of their children in school depends upon regular attendance. It matters little how efficient the teacher may be the advancement of the pupil who is absent two or more days each week, must at best be slow. One constantly behind his classes, rarely fails to lose interest in studies pursued. A feeling of discouragement follows. Six weeks of always present, is worth more to a child than ten weeks marked with oft recurring absence. Best results will be attained when parents co-operate with faithful teachers in all matters pertaining to school. Scholars 12, 12, 12.

OAK HILL. No. 6.

First term, 10 weeks, taught by Edith M. Bryant. Second term, 10 weeks, taught by Lonia A. Kimball.

When a school is maintained at public expense for four scholars, and two are taken out at the expiration of five weeks of the first term and the other two at the close of the fourth week of the second term, we conclude the parents do not appreciate the privilege of schooling their children at home. This waste of school funds will be lessened when these children are schooled where, when they are absent, the teacher can still find something to do. Scholars, 4, 6.

EAST VILLAGE. No 7.

First term, 10 weeks, taught by Annie M. Clough.

Second term, 10 weeks, taught by S. M. Hewes.

Third term, 8 weeks, taught by Kate M. Walcott.

The children in this school are cheerful workers, some being farther advanced in scholarship than any in town of corresponding ages. The summer and fall terms were eminently successful. The opening of the winter term promised equal success, but at the expiration of eight weeks I deemed it best to close the school, it being thoroughly demoralized by popular la grippe, accompanied by whooping cough. One young girl not only had la grippe, but has true grit to back it, being the only scholar present at the close, though living more than a mile distant. Scholars, 13, 15, 11.

CAMBRIDGEVILLE. No. 8.

First term, 10 weeks, taught by Minnie E. Hall.

Second term, 10 weeks, taught by Annie M. Clough.

Third term, 11 weeks, taught by Annie M. Clough.

I congratulate the parents, scholars and teachers in this school, in view of the success attending each term, an illustration of how much may be accomplished with regular attendance. No mark is found against the name of Alice Holt, a little girl living at one extreme of the division, during the school year, and others have done nearly as well. Scholars, 10, 14, 13.

SHAKERS. No 9.

Each term, 31 weeks in all, taught by Fannie C. Fallon.

I shall remember the five visits to this division with feelings of pleasure. The children reflect much credit upon the teachers, and those who may well be proud of their examination. The reading is most excellent, and recitations in all studies pursued are admirable. To visit this school is to be convinced that no better one is maintained in town. Scholars, 32, 16, 12.

The divisions reported above commencing with No. 5, have been under my special charge, although I have visited nearly every other school once or more. They are reported by those having immediate charge of the same.

B. W. CLOUGH, Member Board of Education.
